The Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979

Addition to the schedule of monuments

Historic Environment Scotland, in exercise of the powers conferred on it by section 1(3) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979, hereby adds to the statutory schedule of monuments as set out below.

The monument known as Prehistoric enclosure, Camp Hill comprises the remains of a single-ditched, sub-oval enclosure visible as cropmarks in aerial photographs taken in the late 1970s. The defended enclosure probably dates to the Iron Age (500BC-500AD) and is a fort or enclosed settlement. Within the enclosure, there is a smaller and likely later, sub-rectangular enclosure, also visible as a cropmarked feature. The monument is located on the summit of Camp Hill, at 130m above sea level.

The scheduled area is irregular, extending 10 metres from the outer edges of enclosure remains visible on aerial images. It includes the remains described above and an area around within which evidence relating to the monument's construction, use and abandonment is expected to survive. The scheduling specifically excludes the above ground elements of the triangulation point on the summit and all post-and-wire fencing.

The monument lies in the Parish of Bogue and the County of Kirkcudbright, as shown in red on the plan annexed and executed as relative hereto.
