The Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979

Amended entry in the schedule of monuments

Historic Environment Scotland in exercise of the powers conferred on it by section 1(5) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979 hereby amends the entry in the statutory schedule of monuments as set out below.

The monument known as Dun and fort, Crammag Head comprises a promontory fort and dun, probably dating from the Iron Age (between about 800 BC and AD 500). The fort is visible as a turf-covered outer bank and ditch with an inner ditch with causeway. The dun is visible as a crescent-shaped line of stonework. The fort and dun are partially overlain by a 20th century lighthouse, the above ground elements of which are excluded from the scheduling. The monument lies around 25m above sea level, occupying the promontory of Crammag Head. The site is bounded by rocky slopes to seaward on the north, south and west sides.

The scheduled area is irregular, extending five metres eastwards from the landward edge of the fort's outer ditch. It includes the remains described above and an area around within which evidence relating to the monument's construction, use and abandonment is expected to survive. The schedule specifically excludes the above ground elements of the lighthouse and associated concrete bases and steps, above ground elements of post-and-wire fencing and the above ground elements of masts.

The monument lies in the Parish of Kirkmaiden and the County of Wigtown, as shown in red on the plan annexed and executed as relative hereto.

This entry supersedes the entry in the schedule of monuments for the monument known then as Crammag Fort as referred to in the Certificate of Service of Notice by the Commissioners of His Majesty's Works and Public Buildings in respect of the monument dated 5 December 1938 and recorded in the General Register of Sasines for the County of Wigtown on 6 February 1939.

Authorised by [REDACTED] Interim Head of Designations with Historic Environment Scotland on 17/05/2021.

This document is certified as a true copy of the amended entry in the schedule of monuments for the monument known as Dun and fort, Crammag Head SM1964,
